

Blowing In the Wind – Bob Dylan, key of E

E                      A                      E

How many roads must a man walk down

E                      A                      B

Before you call him a man?

E                      A                      E                      C#m

How many seas must a (the) white dove sail

E                      A                      B

Before she sleeps in the sand?

E                      A                      E

How many times must the cannonballs fly

E                      A                      B

Before they're forever banned?

A                      B                      E                      C#m
The answer, my friend, is blowing in the wind

A                      B                      E
The answer is blowing in the wind

E                  A                  E
How many years can a mountain exist

E                  A                  B
Before it's washed to the sea?

E                  A                  E                  C#m
How many years must some people exist

E                  A                  B
Before they're allowed to be free?

E                  A                  E
And how many times can a man turn his head

E                  A                  B
And pretend that he just doesn't see?

|   |   |   |     |
|---|---|---|-----|
| A   | B | E | C#m |
| The answer, my friend, is blowing in the wind |   |   |     |
| A   | B | E |     |
| The answer is blowing in the wind             |   |   |     |

E            A            E
How many times can a man look up
E            A            B
Before he sees the sky?
A            B            E            C#m
How many ears must one man (person) have
E            A            B
Before he can hear people cry?
E            A            E
And how many deaths will it take 'til he knows
E            A            B
That too many people have died?

A            B            E            C#m
The answer, my friend, is blowing in the wind
A            B            E
The answer is blowing in the wind

A            B            E            C#m
The answer, my friend, is blowing in the wind
A            B            E
The answer is blowing in the wind

(Chords from a Peter, Paul, and Mary recording.)